

Ohio Solons Surprised By Special Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. John J. Gilligan will call a special session of the 110th General Assembly to act upon campaign financing legislation and three pending election reform bills the week of Oct. 22.

Gilligan announced his intention Tuesday shortly after noon and caught most of the lawmakers by surprise.

The formal proclamation ordering the session will be ready in a day or two, an aide said.

At first, there was speculation he couldn't call the special session because the legislature is currently in recess after adjourning its first-year session. The legislature has not formally adjourned "sine die," meaning it is through with its work.

"The law is very plain," said House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire. "It is specified that the governor can call a special session anytime he wants to after the legislature had adjourned."

"There is no such animal in Ohio as sine die," said Lancione.

"Sine die" resolutions, however, have been part of the General

Assembly's customs and procedures. However, the resolutions are not provided for in either the law or the constitution.

Gilligan is not without precedent in calling the session before final adjournment at the end of the biennium in 1974. Gov. Michael DiSalle did the same thing in 1961.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, did not challenge the call. He said he was sure the governor had researched the law well enough to know he could do it.

House Minority Leader Charles F.

Kurfess, R-83 Bowling Green, said he shared Gilligan's concern over elections but thought there were more pressing needs for a special session.

Kurfess cited tax reform, more effective laws prohibiting public employee strikes and the Republican-sponsored bill to eliminate the so-called "bedsheet ballot."

Gilligan said he wants the legislature to write a strong law controlling political campaign financing before Nov. 1, enabling to be implemented for the 1974 elections.

The governor called the first session of the 110th "extremely productive."

But, he added: "I firmly believe that certain reforms in our election law, which I first proposed last January, should be enacted into law before the opening of the campaign year of 1974."

He urged the legislative leadership—Republican in the Senate, Democratic in the House—to appoint a special joint committee to begin immediately hearing campaign spending legislation.

"Never," said the governor in a letter to the leaders, "have we had a better opportunity, with a more receptive public atmosphere, to outlaw all of the sleazy practices which have undermined our electoral system and have shaken our people's faith in their government."

Gilligan asked that three bills passed by the House and now pending in the Senate Elections Committee, chaired by Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, be brought to a vote.

They would extend the closing time of polls from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., change primary election dates, liberalize residency requirements and make recounts mandatory in close elections.

Fighting Rages In Chile

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chile's new military rulers were reported facing opposition in the streets today after their takeover from President Salvador Allende, who was said to have committed suicide after a coup ended his attempt to turn the country Socialist.

A radio station controlled by the junta said in a broadcast monitored in Argentina that "extremist groups continue to resist the action of the armed forces in downtown Santiago."

The terse broadcast gave no idea of the scale of the resistance or whether Chileans were mounting opposition to the military in other parts of the country.

Allende's ouster on Tuesday followed weeks of unrest created by the Marxist president's refusal to come to terms with the country's moderate and conservative majority and his inability to end strikes, soaring inflation and economic stagnation in the factories and on the farms.

Communications between Chile and the outside world were cut off shortly after the coup began. They reopened for a few hours in the evening, then were broken again with no indication when they would again be operating.

More than 100 leftists were reported arrested in Santiago and Valparaiso, the seaport northwest of Santiago where naval units began the revolt.

The junta issued a list of 68 prominent Socialist and Communist leaders who were ordered to appear at the defense ministry or face arrest. Among those named were Foreign Minister Carlos Altamirano and the president's sister Laura, a member of Congress.

The junta also ordered all foreigners "in the country in irregular or illegal situations" to report to the police. This apparently referred to the estimated 2,000 left-wing terrorists or subversives from Uruguay and Brazil given asylum in Chile by Allende.

Tanks, ground troops and two air force jets attacked the presidential palace in Santiago just before noon Tuesday after Allende refused an ultimatum to resign that was issued by the heads of the army, navy, air force and national police. The palace was set afire, but the president's guard did not surrender until nearly 2:30 p.m.

An army helicopter strafed several nearby government buildings from which snipers were firing on the troops around the palace, but by mid-afternoon only scattered pockets of resistance were reported.

First reports said the 65-year-old president had surrendered, but later police sources reported he had committed suicide. This was confirmed by Police Prefect Rene Carrasco, and Chilean newsmen who accompanied the troops into the burning palace said the body was hunched up on a blood-covered sofa in the main salon on the second floor, apparently shot in the head.

Carrasco said Allende's press adviser, Augusto Olivares, also had killed himself near the end of the fight.

Allende had said in a statement broadcast as the air force jets were making their first attack on the palace: "I will not resign...I am ready to resist with whatever means, even at the cost of my life, so that this serves as a lesson in the ignominious history of those who have strength but not reason."

The U. S. Embassy, which is near the palace, said there were no American casualties. In Washington, a State Department spokesman said it would be "inappropriate to comment in a substantive manner" on the coup, but leftists throughout Latin America were certain to accuse the U. S. government and its Central Intelligence Agency of having a hand in it.

The leaders of the coup were Gen. Augusto Pinochet, the army commander; Gen. Gustavo Leigh, the chief of the air force; Adm. Jose Toribino Merino, chief of naval operations, and Gen. Cesar Mendoza of the national police.

It was the first time in 46 years that the traditionally nonpolitical Chilean armed forces overthrown a civilian government. But in the past year Allende has repeatedly brought the service chiefs into his cabinet in attempts to satisfy his opposition, then has refused to let them modify his socialist goals.

Allende, a physician, senator and avowed Marxist Socialist, made three unsuccessful campaigns for the presidency before he won in 1970. He only got 36.3 per cent of the popular vote but was high man, and the Christian Democrats, Chile's largest party, agreed to his election by congress.

Although his leftist coalition did not have a majority in either house of Congress, Allende pledged that he would bring socialism to Chile by democratic means only.

Soon after taking office, he completed the nationalization of the American-owned copper mines and refused to pay compensation to the companies, a move that was applauded by nearly all Chileans. Allende also launched an ambitious program to divide up large land holdings among the peasants, but agricultural production declined. The inflation rate soared above 300 per cent this year.

But Allende's chief weakness was the fact that the majority of the country was not behind his socialist program, and that this was reflected in the opposition majority in Congress. His government has been plagued for the past year by strikes prompted often by the declining economy and rising prices but usually with an underlying basis of fear that the strikers soon would be hit by nationalization. Violence often resulted.

Chilean Action Could Spark Others

By LOUIS UCHITELLE

Associated Press Writer

The military has ended Chile's experiment in democratic Marxism, and Latin America's radical left can now say, "We told you this would happen."

Chile's Left Revolutionary Movement (MIR), Argentina's People's Revolutionary Army (ERP), Uruguay's Tupamaros and the smaller guerrilla movements in other countries insist that violence is a necessary ingredient of Marxist revolution.

Their hero is Ernesto "Che" Guevara, the hero of the Cuban revolution who was killed by army troops in 1967 while leading a guerrilla band in Bolivia. Now Allende — reported a suicide after his overthrow Tuesday — joins Guevara in the left-wing revolutionary pantheon.

The MIR, composed mostly of university students, urged Allende to silence his opponents by force, calling on armed MIR members, if necessary, for help. Allende restrained his young followers and insisted that he would remain within the constitution in leading Chile "down the road to Socialism."

Now the MIR can be expected to go underground again and resume the underground violence characteristic of the organization before Allende's election in 1970. Allende's failure may spur revolutionary violence in other countries, too.

Many Latins, especially young people, approved of Allende's road to radical economic and social reform without violence. He became a spokesman for the continent's nationalist sentiment and for rapid and independent economic development in a democratic framework. His overthrow by a rightist military coup helps to polarize further the Latin American ideological struggle.

In neighboring Argentina, for example, the People's Revolutionary Army — famed for kidnapping foreign businessmen and military leaders — has turned against Juan D. Peron. The new Peronist government had Allende's warm support, but the ERP says the 77-year-old Peron's promises to free Argentina from "imperialist influences" are empty.

The failure of Allende's policies might win the ERP recruits from among the thousands of young radicals now supporting Peron and demanding that he socialize Argentina.

Allende repeatedly accused foreigners, especially the U. S. government, of encouraging his opponents. His downfall and suicide are likely to bring charges that the United States had a role in the coup — charges hard to disprove and certain to add to the anti-American sentiment widespread in Latin America.

Cast Named For 'Gypsy' Staging Here

Cast of characters has been selected for the November staging of "Gypsy" by Roundtown Players Inc.

Auditions were held during the weekend at the Memorial Hall Theater. Dick Davis, director, noted today he was well pleased with the large turnout and enthusiasm shown in the Jules Styne musical comedy.

Heading the large cast is B.J. Sowers as Madame Rose. Larry Blum will be seen as her leading man in the role of Herbie. Ten-year-old Sherry Mogan was cast as Baby June and her sister, Louise, will be played by Peggy Riffle, Route 5. In the same roles as adults will be Sherry Fausnaugh as June and Marsha Schneider, who becomes the internationally famous burlesque queen, Gypsy Rose Lee.

Cast as the three strippers, who sing "You Gotta Have a Gimmick", are Debbie Young Chandler, Dot Eck and d'Lee Blankenship.

Jim Fosnaugh will be seen in the show-stopping number, "All I Need Is A Girl." Gladden Troutman will be Mr. Goldstone. Jim Leckrone will be seen as Pop; Steve Stevenson as Yonkers; Frank Vavrock as L.A.; Evelyn Perdion as Miss Cratchitt; Ed Herel as Mr. Kringelein; Bill Chandler as Cigar; Janice Perdion as Renee. Dawn Morrison and Judy Vavrock will be included in the list of showgirls. Martin Sharrett is stage manager.

Other children in the cast include: Jay Dorff, Mikie Alkire, Todd Bowman, Mike McCain, Jay Leckrone, Gayle Sharrett, Becky Sowers, Terri Ross, Kathy Fisher.

Production dates are Nov. 7, 8, 9 and 10. Rehearsals get underway Wednesday evening.

Ehrlichman-Agnew Feud Disclosed By Goldwater

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says Vice President Spiro Agnew at one point threatened to stay off the 1972 ticket unless President Nixon dumped aide John Ehrlichman.

But Goldwater, in an interview last week with a group of Akron Beacon-Journal editors, said Agnew later changed his mind, probably because of pressure applied at the Miami convention.

The newspaper printed the interview with Goldwater in question-and-answer form this week. In it, Goldwater also revealed he knew five months ago Agnew was involved in a Maryland probe into alleged kickbacks.

Ehrlichman and former White House Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman both resigned from Nixon's staff in the wake of Watergate disclosures. Goldwater did not indicate Agnew's earlier demand for Ehrlichman to quit had any connection with Watergate.

Goldwater, who said Agnew and Nixon were no closer than any other president and vice president, said Agnew was frustrated with the office. "I can tell you this, it wasn't easy to get Ted to run as vice president again," Goldwater said.

"He was very fed up, not with Haldeman, but the other one, Ehrlichman," Goldwater said in the interview. "In fact, he told me to tell (Campaign Director John) Mitchell that if Ehrlichman stayed he would not run."

But Goldwater said Agnew changed his mind by the time Nixon was nominated for reelection in Miami.

"I think you get down to Miami, and you get the muscle put on you, and it's hard to say no," he said. "I went through it. And I had to tell them to go to hell more than twice."

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Concern over rising interest rates and tighter money pushed stock market prices lower today, extending the market slide to its third straight session this week.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was down 4.59 to 881.17, after a 13-point drop over the previous two trading sessions. Declines led advances on the New York Stock Exchange by 4 to 3.

A block of 121,400 shares of Reynolds Metals traded on the Big Board at 16½, off ¾.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index at noon was off .23 to 100.17, while the NYSE index was off .20 to 55.10.

Other Big Board prices included Telex, expecting some sort of judgment soon on its billion-dollar antitrust suit against IBM, up ¾ to 4¾; Genesco, which is rumored to have been confronted with a tender offer for its common stock, up ¾ to 9¾; and Exxon, down ½ to 86¾.

Cycle Gang Being Held For Murder

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Eleven members of what police described as a motorcycle gang are in Montgomery County jail in connection with the beating-shooting death of an army sergeant early Saturday.

Clarksville police said they were still seeking a 12th man charged in the death of Sgt. Kaoru R. Smith of Chicago, assigned to an infantry regiment at nearby Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Smith's body was found stuffed in the front seat of his auto Sunday morning. Police said he had been beaten with chains and shot with a shotgun and pistol.

A police spokesman said the arrests followed the finding of a shotgun in a car several hours after the sergeant's body was found.

The spokesman said Smith was killed following an altercation at a Clarksville tavern Friday night. Police believe he was killed outside a house used as a headquarters by members of the "Aliens" motorcycle club.

The 11 men in custody, all either Ft. Campbell soldiers or recently discharged military personnel, were arraigned on murder charges in General Sessions Court Tuesday. Judge Thomas E. Stamper ordered a preliminary hearing for Sept. 28.

Minor Released Under Probation

Two criminal cases were heard this morning in common pleas court.

John Minor, Williamsport, was released from a prison term on a check charge. Minor has appealed for shock probation and his request was granted by Judge William Ammer.

A pre-sentence report was ordered for Ronald Keith Lowery who pleaded guilty to breaking and entering an uninhabited building in the night season. A second charge against Lowery, grand larceny, was dismissed.

Women In Business Feel Continued Discrimination

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Women's liberation may be making great strides in business, but three top women in technology think they'd be better off professionally if they were men.

"I'd probably be president of a company somewhere if I were a man," said Esther Williams, a metallurgist and engineering specialist with Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. in Sunnyvale, Calif.

"I think there's no question I'd be at a higher level," said Cynthia Pruett, manager of quality assurance systems measurement and analysis for IBM in San Jose, Calif.

"I think I'd be higher because I think I would have had more ambition if I were a man. It wouldn't take as long to develop it," said Sandra Hawley, manager of information sciences for ESL, Inc., in Sunnyvale.

Ms. Williams, Pruett and Hawley — as they prefer to be called — spoke to newsmen at the Western Electronic Show and Convention Tuesday about the pitfalls of cracking the allmale, top-management stronghold in the scientific-technological industry.

They were joined by James Hitchcock, compliance manager for Pacific Telephone, who said women's image of women is probably a greater barrier to success in management than men's image of women.

"I think there is a problem of women not competing as effectively at that level," he said. "And this is something we're trying to encourage — having women compete at all levels and getting across the idea that there are no such things anymore as men's jobs and women's jobs."

Ms. Williams, who put four children through college, said her career ran well until she got to the management level and "then you hit the crunch."

Talk Tax

As a testament to hypocrisy, the history of a "temporary" or "emergency" tax is unparalleled. With few exceptions, it is seldom temporary, as the lively ups and downs of the federal tax on telephone service attests.

Passed as part of a package of World War II emergency measures, the phone tax began at 6 per cent in 1942. Before that year was over, however,

Congress had raised the ante to 10 per cent. Two years later it went to 15 per cent, where the rate remained for nearly 24 years.

On Jan. 1, 1966, the rate declined to 3 per cent, but only for a few months. By June of that year a new law boosted the tax back to 10 per cent. That is where it remained until June of this year.

Public Law 91-614 now governs the phone tax, and that law says it will be reduced by one percentage point each year until it is wiped out completely in 1982. The first reduction—to 9 per cent—went into effect this year.

Where it goes from here would be a wild guess. The odds, however, are not in favor of the present law remaining in force until tax oblivion sets in, even if that lovely day is still 9 years away.

The Saving Habit

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Governor Ronald Reagan of California is getting a big undercover push for the 1976 Republican Presidential nomination from his tax-saving exploits. Just a couple of weeks ago he signed a bill that will trim a fifth to a third, depending on a family's tax bracket, from the 1973 state income tax. In effect, this amounts to a $721 million tax rebate. And beginning this October, the California state sales tax will drop from six to five cents on the dollar.

The sort of thing that is of great advantage to the Governor of California, however, doesn't seem to work at the other end of the continent. Connecticut's Governor Tommy Meskill, with a base in a far less populous state, has piled up a $65 million budgetary surplus, which will have to go back to the people in one way or another, whether through lower taxes or a repayment on the State debt. But you don't hear that Cliff White, the master of primary campaigns, has any desire to push Tommy Meskill for the Vice Presidency slot on a Reagan ticket.

Meskill is getting socked by his home-state critics for spending money on such experimental things as a new $4.4 million "people-mover" system of computer-controlled cars to carry some 30 passengers each from a distant parking lot to the main terminal at Connecticut's Bradley International Airport. "Tommy's Trolley" is the contemptuous name for the project, which will be built by the Ford Motor Company.

Meskill's feeling, an entirely legitimate one, is that it is better to carry out a small-scale test of a computer-operated mass transit system before committing hundreds of millions of dollars to the adventure of providing automatic "people-movers" for the downtown areas of big cities.

Meskill has something of the industrialist's eye to cost-cutting possibilities wherever he turns. His recent creation of a 15-member Commission on Hospitals and Health Care is a case in point. The new commission will ride herd not only on hospital rates but on the operating costs and capital budgets of private hospitals, which might be thought of as an infringement on private enterprise. But Connecticut's hospitals, each a law unto itself for the most part, lack the virtues of an integrated proprietary system in which the use of facilities is "rationalized" over a number of units.

In Connecticut there are eight separate open-heart surgery units, for example. Each costs hundreds of thousands of dollars a year to maintain. According to the American Heart Association, an open-heart surgery team should perform at least 200 operations a year in order to remain effective. But only one hospital in the state hits the 200 mark. In two hospitals, only 30 operations were performed. The general consumer of medical services, of course, must pay the bills for the excess capital plant and the unused surgeons' time.

The same is true in the case of maternity care. In one Connecticut city, Bridgeport, the maternity units in two of the three hospitals are occupied less than half the time. Yet the third hospital went ahead in 1971 to add its own maternity unit, which now gets a little over 30 per cent occupancy. The unused beds have to be paid for by someone.

Before instituting the Commission on Hospitals and Health Care, Meskill had the advice of John Hill, former president of the Aetna Life company of Hartford, who is now the head of a big proprietary hospital chain with headquarters in Nashville, Tenn. Hill's system doesn't waste money on duplication. So now, as the result of a private enterpriser's example, we have a paradox: a tough team of commissioners, chosen from consumers who are not affiliated in any way with the health-care industry, is being called upon to force the cost-saving virtues of private business on Connecticut's hospital system.

State Controlling Board OKs Funds For Schools, Auto Tags

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Controlling Board released $2.5 million to state universities Monday to help them assist underprivileged students.

The money, to be spent over a one-year period, will go for such services as counseling.

Henry Whitcomb of the Ohio Board of Regents said many students from Appalachia and urban centers need help in areas other than studies. He said a similar program at Bowling Green State University, financed by private contributions, had reduced drop-outs.

The universities got $1.2 million for the same project in the last biennium. Whitcomb said no more than 10 per cent of the money would be used for recruiting students from low income families.

"In many cases," he said, "these students are the first generation of their family to go to college. They need help other than just in reading, writing and arithmetic."

In other action, the board released $13.9 million for four sewer treatment facility projects and gave routine approval for release of the $66.5 million in September school foundation funds.

Two of the sewage treatment facilities will be in the Cleveland Regional Sewer District, a third in Miami Conservancy District, Warren County, and the fourth in Newark, Licking County.

Because of trouble with equipment at the Lebanon Correctional Institute, the board gave approval to the Department of Highway Safety to purchase an extra 2.8 million 1974 license plates from Strutco Division of King Sealy Thermos Co., Freeport, Ill.

The board approved a $774,000 request for 3 million of the plates from the same firm Aug. 13. The additional purchase will add about $100,000 to the price.

The correctional institution is expected to stamp the remaining six million plates. They will be sent to Strutco for relettering.

The board also released $983,545 to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown so he can reimburse county boards of election for expenses incurred in special elections in May 1972 and 1973.

Strip Mining Bill Clears Senate Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Interior Committee has approved a strip mining bill, but the battle continues over how thoroughly the miners should be required to fill in their excavations.

The 86-page bill cleared the committee Monday after an inconclusive vote on an amendment to require elimination of highwalls, the vertical cuts made by surface miners on hill-sides.

The amendment by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., was given a 7 to 6 favorable vote after Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, was called from a Foreign Relations Committee hearing to break a tie.

Still missing was the vote of Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., who was in Boston conducting hearings on park legislation. An aide said Bible was due back Tuesday or Wednesday.

His vote will determine whether the bill goes to the Senate floor with or without the highwall ban. The aide predicted he will probably vote for it.

The bill calls for the secretary of the interior to publish proposed regulations on strip mining within six months, receive comments for 45 days and then hold hearings before adopting final rules.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 12, the 255th day of 1973. There are 110 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1944, the first American troops reached German soil in World War II.

On this date—

In 1609, the English navigator in service of Holland, Henry Hudson, entered the river which now bears his name.

In 1814, American forces successfully defended Baltimore against the British in the War of 1812.

In 1869, the national Prohibition party was organized in Chicago.

In 1943, Dictator Benito Mussolini was kidnapped by German paratroops from a hotel in Lake Bracciano, Italy.

In 1945, Gen. Douglas MacArthur ordered dissolution of the secret Black Dragon society in Japan and had many of its leaders arrested.

In 1953, Sen. John F. Kennedy married Jacqueline Lee Bouvier in Newport, R.I.

Ten years ago: President Kennedy said he did not believe a U.S. military invasion of Cuba was in the interests of this country.

Five years ago: a U.S. government panel reported that drug costs were excessive and a burden on elderly people.

One year ago: the two principal U.S. intelligence agencies concluded that the massive bombing of North Vietnam had failed to meaningfully slow the flow of men and equipment to South Vietnam.

Today's birthdays: Former Olympic star Jesse Owens is 60. Publisher Alfred Knopf is 81.

Thought for today: Men are like numbers: They acquire their importance from the position — Napoleon.

Circleville's weather station at the Esmeralda Canning Co. recorded an official reading of 102 degrees, marking the fourth day in a row in which the county struggled against 100-degree heat. The high temperatures and lack of moisture combined to give the effect of an early fall. Cornfields were parched brown and trees were already dropping their leaves in number.

Increased concern for the success of Circleville's Christmas lights drive was expressed as the campaign crept along without the help of enough volunteer workers.

George Fishpaw, chairman of the Christmas lights committee, said it appeared that the drive would reach its goal of $3,200 but warned that more volunteers were needed to handle the solicitation work.

James Stewart and Janet Leigh in "The Naked Spur" and Jon Hall in "Eyes of the Jungle" comprised the twinbill at the Clifton Theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Callihan, 121 Walnut St., were the parents of the first baby born in September, a daughter in Berger Hospital.

A general admission charge of 50 cents was announced for all persons older than 12 years at the 1953 Pickaway County Fair.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The words "malignant" and "benign" can spell "despair" or "jubilation."

Patients are often confused and often unnecessarily terrified by the terminology that identifies tumors.

For clarification, all growths, whether benign or malignant, are tumors.

Tumors are, therefore, divided into two main categories, benign (non-cancerous) and malignant (cancerous).

A benign growth or tumor is one that is not harmful and does not tend to destroy adjacent tissue. This type of tumor remains confined by its own enveloping capsule, and does not invade surrounding organs.

On rare occasions benign tumors may change their cellular characteristics and show evidence of malignant degeneration. For this reason even benign tumors are kept constantly under surveillance.

Some patients wonder why a benign, non-cancerous tumor should be removed. Sometimes the tumor may become enlarged and, by its size, press against vital organs.

Although the tumor is benign, it may interfere with normal function and therefore, surgery is suggested for its removal.

By contrast, malignant or cancerous tumors are invasive, and tend to destroy neighboring tissues and organs.

Sometimes a small portion of a malignant tumor can enter the bloodstream and be transported to a distant part of the body. It then establishes another focus for the progress of malignant disease. This is known as metastasis.

Both benign and malignant tumors have a vast sub-classification. This depends entirely on the origin of the tumors and their exact cellular structure.

For example, a neuroma is composed of nerve cells. A lipoma is composed of fatty cells. Myoma indicates a tumor of muscle tissue.

There are also combinations of tissue tumors, such as fibromyoma, which stems from both fibrous and muscle tissue. This, incidentally, is the type of tumor most frequently found in the uterus.

When any piece of tissue is removed from the body, it is sent to the laboratory for study. Here it is processed in a highly technical manner to preserve the cell.

Then the tissue is encased in a paraffin block. The thinnest possible sections are stained with special dyes and studied under the microscope.

Pathologists are specialists in the study of these tissues. They can, with a great degree of certainty, determine the nature of the cell structure, and establish the diagnosis of a benign or a malignant tumor.

The scientific studies now in progress all over the world give greater and greater assurance that the mystery of cancer will not long evade them.

There is great hope in the newer knowledge of tumors, both from the diagnostic point of view, and for their successful treatment.

Telephone Pact Story Premature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An official of the Communication Workers of America Tuesday quashed a report of a settlement in the strike against General Telephone Co. only hours after saying agreement was near on a new contract.

A company spokesman explained the episode by saying, "That was the CWA's show."

Top officials of the Ohio AFL-CIO and 30 presidents of CWA locals met in closed session Tuesday with union negotiators to hear the company's latest wage offer.

Martin G. Hughes, a CWA vice president from Cleveland, announced prior to the meeting that settlement of the strike since July 16 was near.

However, he emerged from the meeting later to say the announcement was not forthcoming. "I regret to say that a last-minute hitch in negotiations makes this impossible," he added.

Hughes declined to say what caused the breakdown.

Don Detweiler, General Telephone spokesman, said, "The union was to call if they had come to a decision on anything."

He added that company officials and union leaders talked briefly on the telephone, but he could not elaborate.

Detweiler said the two sides had no meetings scheduled.

Federal mediator Howard Hughes would not discuss the matter or say if a settlement was near.

About 2,800 union members walked off the job in mid-July to press contract demands for higher pay and an agency shop.

Union spokesmen said they wanted pay scales comparable to other independent telephone companies in the state or about a 10 per cent boost.

The CWA also wanted an agency shop that would require new company employees to either join the union or pay fees equal to union dues.

The company has said it offered about 7 per cent more in wages and would not agree to an agency shop, which President Robert Wopat called the major stumbling block in the talks.

Taft With Minority On Benefit Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, voted in the minority Tuesday when the Senate approved 58-31 an amendment making a 5.9 per cent increase in Social Security benefits effective immediately.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., offered the amendment. The benefits were scheduled to take effect next year.

MRS. GEORGIA SWEET, 896-2462

Greeters for Sunday at the Derby United Methodist Church will be Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fields. Flowers for the altar were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hildenbrand.

Mrs. Herman Rowland left a note for me saying that Herman is slowly recuperating at home. He is so very grateful to his friends and relatives for the many cards and the flowers he received. If it were not for the Pickaway County Sheriff's Office, the Sterling State Bank, helping he might not be feeling so much better. Thank God we have this help when we need it the most.

Also Herman was very grateful to Rev. Ken Chapin of Derby Church and Rev. Martindale of the Darbyville Nazarene Church for their wonderful prayers. We wish Herman a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Sweet spent the past week as the house guests of their friends Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Sterling of Bowling Green. While there, they also visited Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thompson and family of Perryburg, Norman Harris, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Harris of Bowling Green.

Eldon Ridgway is home from Madison County Hospital and recuperating nicely.

School Seeks Donated Gas

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — The Evergreen School District, short on gasoline, hopes parents will donate gas to keep school buses running through the year.

The school board said Monday night it hopes to get 10 gallons from each of 1,000 parents.

The district has been unable to contract for all the gas it needs to operate the bus system this year and has cut back bus service to some areas.

MR. AND MRS. ROGER CRAVEN

St. Matthew Lutheran Church Setting For Wedding Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Laura Cummins and Mr. Roger Craven took place Aug. 18th at St. Matthew Lutheran Church in Lockbourne. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cummins of Ashville. She is a graduate of Miami University.

Mr. Craven is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Craven of Cincinnati. He is a graduate of Miami University and employed by Prudential Insurance.

At the double ring ceremony, the bride wore a floor length white organza dress with lace bodice and matching mantilla cathedral length veil with wide lace trim. The bride's mother chose a floor length double knit and lace mint green dress to complement the colors of the wedding. The groom's mother wore a pink linen floor length dress which also coordinated with the wedding colors.

The maid of honor and attendants were outfitted in colors of the rainbow in veil dresses with white floral flocking. The maid of honor, Miss Kenna Fults of Cleveland, wore mint green, while the three bridesmaids, Mrs. Lloyd Isom of Cleveland, Miss Kathy Schwartz of Cincinnati, and the groom's sister Miss Connie Craven wore pink, lavender and yellow dresses. The attendants wore white picture hats with ribbons to match each dress and carried multicolored bouquets of daisy poms, baby's breath, miniature carnations, daisies and ivy. The bride's matching white bouquet was sprinkled with one flower of each of the four colors of the wedding.

The best man was the brother of the groom, Mr. John M. Craven of Cincinnati. Ushers were Mr. Jerry Rebel of Cincinnati, Mr. Terry Quatkemeyer of Cincinnati, and Mr. Steven Cummins, brother of the bride.

To greet the guests the bride chose her cousins, Miss Hulie Jenkins and Miss Dana Jenkins of Crestline, and Miss Shawana Cummins of Circleville. They wore mixed floral flocked, floor length dresses in green, pink, lavender and yellow with matching ribbons and multi-colored floral headpieces. The two flower girls were also cousins of the bride, Miss Gayle Cummins of Circleville and Miss Barbara Jenkins of Crestline. They wore dresses matching the usherettes trimmed in pink and they carried white baskets filled with multi-colored flowers.

The church was decorated in white carnations, gladiolas, and cysanthemums. Candles and greenery were placed in each window and large white bows and greenery adorned the pews.

During the ceremony several solos were sung by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Ralph Cummins. She was accompanied by the organist, Mrs. Gary Throp. The Rev. Donald Beutel officiated at the service.

Among the guests present at the wedding were the bride's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Clara Cummins, and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Gordon Jenkins. Also present was the groom's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Marie Hoffman. Other out-of-town guests were from Cleveland, Cincinnati, Bellevue, Van Wert and Crestline.

Following the 2:30 p.m. ceremony, a reception was held in the church social rooms. The serving table was decorated with a multi-colored bouquet carrying through the color theme and flowers of the wedding. The cake table was covered with green net over white and adorned with small flowers. The four tiered wedding cake was topped with a small floral bouquet and circled at the bottom with ivy. The bride's hostesses at the reception were Mrs. Luther Hafey, Mrs. Jon Triance, and Mrs. George Cummins, aunt of the bride.

After a wedding trip to Geneva, Wis. and Chicago, Ill., the newlyweds now reside in Cincinnati.

New EPA Chief Expects To Enforce Laws Vigorously

EDITORS NOTE: Russell E. Train was confirmed Monday as the new chief of the Environmental Protection Agency. Here, in his first interview since taking over the agency, the outspoken new administrator outlines the direction in which he hopes to lead the EPA.

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Russell E. Train, the new administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, says the nation's commitment to environmental quality will be severely tested as its costs hit home.

But Train said environmental clean-up would not block economic growth; in fact, he said, continued growth would be "very difficult indeed" without it.

Train, a former federal tax court judge, president of the Conservation Foundation, and chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, was appointed to the EPA post after its first administrator, William D. Ruckelshaus became deputy attorney general.

As council chairman, Train was an outspoken environmental advocate who opposed federal financing of the supersonic transport plane when the White House supported it, and who openly disputed the opinion of Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz and others blaming the energy crisis on environmental actions.

In his first interview as EPA administrator, Train criticized the congressional action, backed by the White House, to exempt the proposed trans-Alaska oil pipeline from the National Environmental Policy Act. "I think it is a risky business to start carving out piecemeal exceptions It's a bad road to go," Train commented.

Train also called for new government institutions capable of coordinating long-range policies and forecasting the results.

He said Americans should drive smaller cars.

And he supported the "nondegradation" principle of keeping clean air even cleaner than federal standards would require, a policy imposed by the courts against the resistance of former EPA leadership.

But Train indicated he was leaning toward the "local option" of allowing the states to decide how to apply the "nondegradation" principle — an approach favored by industry groups and opposed by citizen environment organizations.

Here are highlights of the interview with Train in his new EPA office:

Q—What are the most immediate problems facing you as the new head of EPA?

A—The immediate need now is to get on with the job of effectively and vigorously implementing the laws which we now have on the books....

There is a need for us to re-examine and strengthen our research

In the immediate future, I think we're in a period where the costs to the public of environmental protection are beginning to become evident, to be felt; and yet the benefits, which I know are going to be very real, have not yet become equally evident.

So that we're entering a period which, in some ways, will test the commitment of the American people, and I think this is going to be a priority leadership role for the EPA.

Q—Has the action of Congress in making the Alaska oil pipeline an exception to the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) damaged the act's influence, put a crack in the dam?

A—I certainly hope not I think the Alaska pipeline was an awfully unusual situation.

As you know, I've said I was opposed in principle to the amendment excluding the pipeline from the NEPA process, for the reason that I think it is a risky business to start carving out piecemeal exceptions to the National Environmental Policy Act. I think it's a bad road to go.

Q—In the field of energy conservation, do you feel we are doing enough as a government, in terms of policy?

A—No. That's the purpose of the action by the President setting up the Office of Energy Conservation at Interior

We do need substantial efforts and progress in the field of energy conservation. We've just scratched the surface here.

Q—Do you see a strong need for legislation to promote better gasoline mileage, such as size limit or a horsepower-and-weight tax?

A—I think it is important that the American people progressively shift their preference to smaller automobiles. I notice that the most recent automobile sales figures would indicate that something like 44 per cent of all the sales in the American market over the last three months have been what we would call small cars

So, whether it (legislation) is needed or not, I'm not sure now in view of this trend.

Q—Do you have any general thoughts on the very difficult issue of clean air nondegradation?

A—Generally speaking, I support the goal that we should avoid significant deterioration of the air quality.

Now the question is how to do that in ways which both will protect the air quality and also leave room for rational growth in the nation

I don't think it is necessarily a dilemma

Environmental programs are sometimes charged with antigrowth I think it is just the other way around. I feel very strongly that one of the forces that will constrain growth in this country is environmental pollution and degradation generally

Unless we work together to minimize and control these environmental costs, future growth is going to be very difficult indeed.

Q—Is it possible to allow local decisions on "significant deterioration" of air quality and still stay within the meaning of the law as interpreted by the courts?

A—My offhand reaction is that it's going to be difficult to arrive at a rigid formula that has across-the-nation applicability.

One of the four alternatives put forward by EPA provides some option for states to have a certain amount of flexibility. Something of this sort, I think may be necessary

Ohio Crop Decline Blamed On Rain

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Crop Reporting Service Tuesday blamed late plantings and above normal rainfall followed by dry weather in August for a drop in crop production this year.

These difficulties, the service said, "have held the maturity of this year's crops behind normal throughout most of the season."

The service, based on estimates made Sept. 1, said all crop production will be off 6 per cent from last year and 12 per cent below the 1971 record. It added that sharp declines in corn and wheat offset a big jump in soybeans.

The service predicted a new record total of soybeans for the state. Soybean production is expected to total 89 million bushels, up 10 per cent from the 1972 crop of 81.3 million bushels.

Despite the record, the service said the yield per acre was lower.

"The lower yield is more than offset by the large acreage for harvest this year, 3,560,000 acres, up 18 per cent from the 1972 acreage and a new record high soybean acreage in the state," the service said.

The soybean yield for this year is estimated at 25 bushels per acre, down from 27 bushels in 1972 and the record of 30.5 bushels in 1971.

Winter wheat production was estimated at 23 million bushels, 50 per cent below the 1972 production of 46.3 million bushels. The yield per acre was put at 32 bushels, 13 below last year's record yield.

Corn production was projected at 262 million bushels or 8 per cent lower than 1972's 284 million bushels and 19 per cent below the 1971 record of 323 million bushels.

The yield was estimated at 86 bushels, compared with 92 bushels an acre last year. Total acreage was 3.05 million acres, fractionally below last year's amount.

Oats production was predicted to reach 25.5 million bushels, compared with 22.4 million bushels in 1972.

Delaware Bachelor Victor In Chicken-Cooking Contest

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Move over, Minnie Pearl.

A 45-year-old bachelor from Delaware is the new chicken cooking king of North America.

R. Clement Holley of Wilmington, an advertising and public relations executive, has won the National Chicken Cooking Contest and the $10,000 that goes with it.

Holley, who says cooking is "in my blood, and I love it," won the 24th annual cookoff Tuesday night with his chicken and asparagus casserole.

He entered the same dish in the contest last year, he said, but "didn't even get out of the state."

"They (the judges) must have changed their minds this year."

Contest officials apparently were not prepared for a man to win the cookoff. When Toni Black of Fort Smith, the Arkansas Poultry Princess, presented Holley a bouquet of red roses, he handed it back to her and accepted a kiss instead.

Second prize went to Linda Ann Ruizinski of Centerville, Ohio. She won $4,000 for her Hong Kong chicken recipe.

Kiyoko Aoki of Honolulu placed third with her recipe for shoyu chicken. She will take home $3,000 in prize money.

The $2,000 fourth prize went to Sylvia Bothmer of Englewood, Colo., and judges selected Helen Holte of Reno, Nev., as winner of the $1,000 fifth prize.

Thunderstorms Pound Texas For 2nd Week

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy thunderstorms spilled more rain on water-soaked southeastern Texas today.

Other showers were scattered widely in the Rockies, from southeastern Louisiana to South Carolina and along the coast of Maine.

Parts of Texas have had little respite from drenching rains since the beginning of the month. Tropical storm Delia delivered its downpours last week, soaking the coastal plain. A tropical depression brought drenching rains to the area Monday, and more of the same came Tuesday and today.

Galveston, Tex., was soaked with almost 1 1/2 inches around midnight. Flash-flood warnings were issued for southeastern Texas. Similar warnings had been posted for the northeastern two-thirds of the state Tuesday afternoon.

A tornado was sighted at Eunice, La., Tuesday afternoon, but no injuries were reported.

Thunderstorms in the Rockies drifted eastward during the night, becoming heavy over parts of Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas. Rainfall generally was around an inch.

Nearly an inch doused Savannah, Ga., and Roswell, N.M.

Cool, dry air dominated the northern states from the Rockies to New England. Temperatures were in the 40s and 50s overnight.

Settlement Said Near In Teacher Walkout

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A settlement appeared to be at hand in the Youngstown teachers' strike after a series of lengthy negotiations between 1,750 striking teachers and nonteaching employees and school board members.

Talks in the chambers of Mahoning County Common Pleas Court Judge Clyde Osborne ran into the early hours this morning in a second straight night of marathon negotiations.

Big Contests On Tap For County Gridders

All three county schools will be looking for the winning trail Friday night, after suffering opening game losses, when Teays Valley hosts the Circleville Tigers, Logan Elm takes on Millersport on the Braves' turf and

Staubach Named Cowboys Starter; Morton Wants Out

By EARL GERHEIM Associated Press Sports Writer Quarterback Craig Morton, disappointed, subdued and the memory of a solid preseason performance fresh in his mind, was hoping to be traded by the Dallas Cowboys after Roger Staubach was tabbed for the starting signal-calling spot. Dallas Coach Tom Landry, ending weeks of speculation as Staubach and Morton alternated at quarterback during the exhibition season, Tuesday named the scrambling Staubach as his No. 1 quarterback. "Craig probably would like to be traded to another club which I think is understandable," Landry said. "It was a tough decision. Not many teams are blessed with two good quarterbacks." Landry said he told the two of his decision Sunday. "The reaction was just as you'd expect. I don't expect players to compete, for something they want badly and not be disappointed. I won't go into the merits of why. I had to make the choice."

Westfall travels to Madison Plains. Explosive action should be the main course at Teays Valley when the Vikings host the Red and Black of Circleville in a county rivalry clash which always provides plenty of fireworks. Coach John Glanton will be sending his Westfall Mustangs against a big Madison Plains squad in another rivalry contest. The Mustangs dropped a 32-0 Bengal Cut Kellerman CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Former Cleveland Browns safety Ernie Kellermann, cut by the Cincinnati Bengals Tuesday, said he was "hurt" but decided "life goes on."

Kellermann, an outstanding quarterback at Miami of Ohio before he was drafted for defense in 1965 by Cleveland, came to Cincinnati just before the season opened last year. At that time he laughed off reports he was sought by Cincinnati in an effort to scout the Browns defenses prior to the first regular season game between the Ohio rivals. "They knew more about Cleveland than I did," he laughed. Cleveland won 27-6. "Actually," said Kellermann after he was cut, "the organizations were very similar. I have no regrets but I was really hurt after they told me. "It's been a good life. I had some great games. It was my boyhood dream to become a professional something." He played all sports, including golf with high school mate Tommy Weiskopf. "Now I'm going to live like an ordinary Joe," he said. "I'm going back to my off-season venture. I'm not going to try with another team unless the offer is too good to pass up. Actually, I'm playing that aspect by ear."

decision to a powerful Berne Union team and Madison Plains dropped a 26-0 fray to Adena in last Week's season openers. "This is a big game for us, not only from the rivalry aspect, but it can put us on the winning side of the ledger," Coach Glanton stated. "Our kids are ready and we look for a good game against the Golden Eagles." Madison Plains is a big team with a lot of size at the tackles in Skaggs, 6-foot-5, 230-pound, and Miller, 6-foot-3, 240-pound, at the offensive spots and Butts, 6-foot-4, 250-pound, moving into the defensive lineup. They are primarily a running team with average speed and a good short passing game. The attack is directed by Geoff Smith, junior quarterback and the running game is powered by their 208-pound fullback, Tim Bierbauch. The Eagles will move from the Power I, with split end and slot. On defense they will use a 5-4 and 6-1 with zone pass coverage. The Mustangs will operate from various offensive formations with quarterback Dave Shannon, who can run and throw, directing the attack. They will use a slot with split end, wing and Power I. The Mustang ground game rolled for 158 yards against the powerful Rockets of Berne Union and Westfall coaches are looking for some good yardage against Madison Plains. Linebacker Artie Dick will anchor the Mustangs' 6-1, 5-2 and 6-5 goal line defense. Jim Wright suffered a knee injury in the Berne Union game and will not see action for the Mustangs Friday night. The offensive unit of the Mustangs will be: Bill Kisor, center; Tim Lett and Tim Hegarty, guards; Walter Garland and Jim Dawson, tackles; Randy Hildenbrand and Randy Puckett, ends; Shannon, quarterback; Dick, fullback; Rick Gaa, halfback; and either Joe Angles or Terry Hegarty at the other halfback spot. Defensively it will be: Tim Hegarty, middle guard; John Long and Dick, linebacks; Dawson and Kisor, tackles; Puckett and Hildenbrand, ends; Gaa and Shannon, cornerbacks; Dave Bullock and Gary Thompson, halfbacks. Logan Elm Coach Bob Stant named Stew Jones offensive player and Brad Luckhart and Terry Crumley defensive players of the game with West Jefferson last week. "I was real pleased with our passing game last week," coach Stant said, indicating that no offensive changes are anticipated for the game with Millersport. However, he said there will be changes made in the defense. Jones is being moved to inside linebacker, Brian Herron shifted to outside linebacker and Steve Rawlins to defensive end. The rest of the defense will remain the same. That means Marty Fullen and Seth Driesbach will start at tackles, Brian Barr at the other defensive end position, Jeff Reichelderfer at the other outside linebacker position and Wayne Linthicum at the inside linebacker, Crumley and Luckhart at defensive halfbacks and Steve Sargent at safety. On offense Reichelderfer will start at tight end, Brad Luckhart at split end, Seth Driesbach and Fullen at tackles, Jones and Herron at guards, John Payne at center, Sargent at quarterback, Dan Ramey at fullback, Rawlins at halfback and Linthicum at I back. Dave Parrish, Wes Harmon, Steve Morrison, Derek Morris, Phil Manson, place kicker Wes King should all see plenty of action in the game. Millersport lost its first game to Granville by a 3-2 score. They have a good nucleus of veterans returning from a squad that posted a 6-4 record last year. The best individual for the Lakers is Eric Alexander, a 6-3, 205-pound tailback. According to the scouting report, they are a basic football team and run a lot between the tackles Stant says. They run from a variety of offensive sets, including the tight T, the power I and the pro set. Defensively they use a basic 5-3 alignment. This is the first of the nine games the Braves will play in the Mid State League.

Quarterbacking Falcons Problem

ATLANTA (AP) — Norm Van Brocklin's major problem with the Atlanta Falcons hasn't changed since he summoned his athletes for the preseason camp. Blessed with one of the National Football League's better defenses, the Falcons had to discover a quarterback who could generate some offense. "The only way to judge a quarterback is by asking can he win the championship?" Van Brocklin said. "And his won-lost record is the yardstick." Results of preseason games appear to have settled nothing. The Falcons won their first two and then lost three in a row behind the combined quarterbacking of veteran Dick Shiner, newcomer Bob Lee and former Heisman Trophy winner Pat Sullivan. Shiner, who spent most of last year on the Falcon taxi squad while Sullivan was learning from the sideline in his rookie year, fired two touchdown passes in Atlanta's 27-10 victory over New England last month. Sullivan recorded the only other victory among the trio, but it was the defense that provided the edge in a 34-20 conquest of Baltimore. Atlanta figures to seriously challenge San Francisco in the National Conference West race after bowing out of title contention the final week of the 1972 season. The defense is set with outstanding personnel. The front four is anchored by two of the NFL's top ends, All-Pro Claude Humphrey and John Zook. Between them will be tackles Mike Lewis and Mike Tilleman, acquired from the Houston Oilers. Tommy Nobis, a former All-Pro before knee injuries began plaguing him, heads a linebacking corps that includes Greg Brezina and Don Hansen. Veteran Ken Reaves and three-year veteran Tom Hayes handle the cornerback chores while the safeties are Clarence Ellis, last year's No. 1 draft pick from Notre Dame, and Ray Brown. Offensively, the big question is quarterback, although Atlanta lacks speed at wide receiver, needs depth in the line and could use a muscular, punishing-type running back.

Ben Williams Top Back

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON Associated Press Sports Writer His real name is Robert Jerry Williams Jr. but he goes by the tag of Ben Williams. Ben is short for Gentle Ben, the television bear, but Williams is anything but gentle when it comes to hitting enemy runners and passers for the University of Mississippi's football team. Villanova found that out Saturday night. The Wildcats were beaten by a 24-6 score as Williams made seven solo tackles, assisted on five others and nailed the quarterback three times and the ball carrier twice for losses. For that performance, the 6-foot-3, 245-pound sophomore defensive tackle from Yazoo City, Miss., was named National College Lineman of the Week today by The Associated Press.

Predict Ever-Widening Gap Between Resources, Needs

DENVER (AP)—There will be a $100 billion annual gap by the year 2000 between the United States' mineral output and its mineral requirements, but technological advances can help bridge it, says Elbert Osborn, director of the Bureau of Mines.

delegates from 11 nations. Within 30 years America may have to rely on foreign sources for half or more of its mineral requirements. "Furthermore, we will be competing for those foreign mineral products with other mineral-hungry nations all over the world. "The situation could lead to a global minerals shortage that would make our current energy crisis look like the good old days by comparison," said Osborn. "Fortunately," he added, "we possess both the lead time and the scientific know-how to avert such a crisis." Osborn said the yield from existing resources can be stretched with modest improvements in technology and the larger gaps of the future met with advances in exploration techniques, substitution of materials for some minerals and recycling. The government, and especially the Bureau of Mines under its charter, share the responsibility with the mining industry for meeting those goals, he said.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Toledo voters selected incumbent Mayor Harry Kessler and Mike Syring to face each other in the city's general election Nov. 6. Kessler and Syring ran first and second Tuesday in a nonpartisan primary election for mayor. Kessler, a Democrat, collected 24,729 votes, more than twice his nearest opponent. Syring, a Republican, garnered 10,807 votes. In 1972, farmers and farmers' cooperatives borrowed almost $17 billion from the three lending units of the Farm Credit System.

Western European Leaders Skeptical About U.S. Policy

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — West European leaders agree that President Nixon's trip to Europe this fall will produce far less than the "New Atlantic Charter" Henry Kissinger has proposed.

As part of his Year of Europe, Nixon wanted a largescale summit meeting with America's European allies. The result was to be a resounding new statement of principles for the 24-year-old North Atlantic Alliance.

But Europeans say Nixon and Kissinger failed to take the precaution of consulting them in advance about these ideas. They suspected that the President was using them for domestic political purposes.

Why, some of their diplomats asked, should the alliance be redefined just at this point to suit his convenience?

The result was a decision Monday by the nine countries of the European Common Market to make a strict division between talks on defense and economic matters. They are ready to talk about both, but in different frameworks.

They don't want to bring military and economic problems into the same meeting for fear that the United States will demand economic concessions in return for its spending on the defense of Europe.

The nine Common Market countries said they would draw up a declaration of "European identity" to make clear to the rest of the world the significance of their new community.

5 Areas Stocked For Ohio Fishermen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Division of Wildlife has stocked larger muskellunge in two reservoirs and three lakes to give state fishermen a better chance of making a catch.

Wildlife Chief Dan Armbruster said more than 7,000 of the fish measuring nine to 13 inches have been added to Clendening and Salt Fork reservoirs and Rocky Fork, Knox and Piedmont lakes. In the past, he said, only three to five-inch muskies were stocked.

Maine sardines are Atlantic herring fingerlings (Clupea harengus), but Europeans insist they aren't sardines at all.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Offers "X" Movie Solution

DEAR ABBY: In regard to a letter dealing with X-rated movies, you replied, "If the morals squad would just ignore them instead of staging raids, confiscating film, and arresting exhibitors and patrons, thereby giving millions of dollars worth of free advertising to these trashy movies, they would die a slow death."

Now, Abby, you know I am a fan of yours, but in this case, if you pardon me, you are nuttier than a fruitcake!

There are a lot of people whose minds never got above their waists, and these movies only encourage more of that attitude. When it comes to trying to put a stop to this type of filth, I believe they should shoot the people who exhibit these films!

The problem has flourished because honest, sensible, sound people like you have refused to take a vigorous stand on this matter.

Best wishes, just the same.

WILLIAM LOEB, PUBLISHER
MANCHESTER UNION
LEADER, MANCHESTER,
N.H.

DEAR MR. LOEB: I appreciate your classifying me among the "honest, sensible, sound" people, but if you think I haven't taken a vigorous stand on this matter, you, sir, are nuttier than a pecan plantation.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled in favor of leaving the matter of setting acceptable standards up to the local communities and states.

In Albemarle County, Virginia, recently, a special grand jury of five men and two women were asked to recommend "acceptable community standards." They couldn't do it!

In your opinion, Mr. Loeb, WHO should decide what the adults of Manchester, N.Y. should be allowed to see? The city council by ordinance? The chief of police? The sheriff? The PTA?

So far, there has not been a shred of evidence to support your allegation that these movies encourage others to emulate those "whose minds never got above their waists."

Finally, if there is ever a law in this land which requires its citizens to look at X-rated movies you can count on me to take a vigorous stand against it!

DEAR ABBY: A good friend of mine met a very attractive couple at a party at my home one evening. (They were newcomers to town.)

Next thing I heard, my good friend invited this couple to her home for a party, and she didn't invite me! I never would have done such a thing, and claim this is not cricket.

Is this ethical behavior? No etiquette book I have ever seen covers this situation.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: It's NOT cricket to invite someone you met at a friend's party without including the friend on the first invitation. After that, you have no obligation to the one who brought you together.

DEAR ABBY: I've read your column for years, and have often said: "These can't be real letters from real people. Nobody could be that dumb." After what happened to me, I will never say that again. Here is my story:

Our son brought home a very pretty foreign girl. They were married. We treated her like our own daughter. At first she was quiet and shy, but it didn't take her long to learn the American ways.

She and our son lived with us. Before long we could tell that they were having trouble. She would leave the house early in the morning and not come home until late in the evening. She didn't have a job, and no one knew where she went. My son objected to it, but my husband would defend her.

When the truth came out, it was my HUSBAND she was seeing on the sly. He is self-employed and can set his own schedule. My son was brokenhearted, but he gave her the divorce she wanted, and I gave my husband his freedom (after 28-years, and four children!), and now my ex-daughter in law is married to my ex-husband!

Now, I can believe anything.

Channelization Dispute Stirred

By JIM DAUBEL

Written for Associated Press

Few things are more appalling to conservationists these days than channelization, the practices of dredging a natural stream to improve its flow.

No place in the state has there been more local bitterness over the controversial soil conservation technique than in the farm belt of Northwestern Ohio.

Ironically, the same region recently produced a unique agreement on a temporary truce.

The arrangement could — and the emphasis is on could — be a first step toward a permanent peace.

The Northwestern Ohio skirmish began in the late 1960's when upstream sections of picturesque Sugar Creek were declared a nuisance to agriculture.

Seeking relief from periodic

Municipal Court News

Steven Chattos, 19, Route 1, Stoutsville, assured clear distance ahead, $15 and costs.

Kathy Smith, 611 Elm Ave., insufficient funds, $50 and costs, fine suspended on condition to pay check and court costs.

Sandra L. Corne, Route 1, Stoutsville, insufficient funds, $50 and costs, fine suspended on condition to pay check and court costs.

Richard J. Moore, Route 1, Ashville, insufficient funds, $50 and costs, fine suspended on condition to pay check and court costs.

flooding, local farmers, county extension officials and the Soil Conservation Service spearheaded a move to channelize Sugar Creek.

Area residents who opposed channelization sued to scuttle the project.

The case ultimately went to the Ohio Supreme Court, which ruled against the objectors and upheld Ohio's agricultural drainage laws in a landmark decision.

Last year property owners downstream petitioned to extend the work some 10 miles through Wood, Sandusky and Ottawa counties to the point where Sugar Creek empties into the Portage River.

As with the upstream project, channelization would consist of dredging Sugar Creek to widen and deepen it. Streamside cover would be stripped away and natural meanders in the winding creek would be eliminated.

The objective would be to improve water flow, eliminating floods which farmers said cost them thousands of dollars a year.

Opponents contend only a handful of farmers suffer flood losses, and that the $700,000 project would benefit only a few. They say also that changing the stream will destroy wildlife habitat and turn Sugar Creek into little more than an expensive ditch.

Two hundred persons jammed the Sandusky County courtroom for the first public hearing and after hours of emotional testimony commissioners from three counties issued their verdict:

The Sugar Creek project would be postponed one year. During that time both sides are to work to clear the stream of debris and logjams, hopefully eliminating the need for extensive alterations.

Optimists say hard work by the Sugar Creek Protection Society will prove channelization unnecessary.

Pessimists claim farmers will not be satisfied until Sugar Creek is dredged and that the commissioners, most of them farmers, will ultimately overrule the opponents.

WHAT BIG BEAR VALUE MEANS TO YOU

BIGGER VARIETY AND SELECTION OF SIZES
SAVES YOU MONEY.

We try at all times to provide a greater selection of grocery products than any other supermarket chain. This too, can save you money. Buy a package that's too large, for example, so the contents spoil before you can use them all, and that's a waste that costs you money. Having a size that's right for your needs is part of our philosophy of value.

GOOD EATING — GOOD HEALTH

Now that the family is back to the more vigorous schedule of autumn, it's time to get back to eating "three squares" a day. Breakfast is especially important to keep family members from running out of energy in late morning. If you have someone in your family who is watching their weight, breakfast should be a "must" for them. A nutritionally well balanced breakfast, though it can be low in calories, will help them resist that midmorning sweetroll or candy bar, and they won't feel starved when lunchtime arrives. Too many teenagers, and working men and women as well, have only a sandwich and soft drink for lunch. The soft drink is almost totally empty calories, and the meal contains virtually no roughage. Roughage is needed in the diet both for the nutrients it adds and as a digestive aid. If the sandwich is made with lettuce or coleslaw, tomatoes or other raw vegetables, that's better, but these sandwich additions are usually added in rather small amounts, so are of limited value. Many schools now have vending machines filled with a variety of fresh fruits, or they may be brought from home. Remind your child that these are much better for their complexions and for an afternoon pickup than high calorie snack foods. If you are packing school lunches, include vegetable sticks, whole cherry tomatoes and a variety of fresh fruit. Start your child on the road to good eating habits early, and they'll be healthier, more active adults.

Reds Rookies Rip Dodgers

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Big Red Machine has been replaced, giving way to a newer, faster model called the Cincinnati Kiddie Kar.

And the re-modeled entry in the National League Western Division race has the Cincinnati Reds heading into the stretch with a four-game lead.

The Reds, led by a brash bunch of youngsters who seem to be thriving on pennant pressure, lengthened their lead Tuesday night with a 6-3 victory over runnerup Los Angeles.

"It was the kids that beat us," said Dodger manager Walter Alston. "We had a meeting before the game to go over their new players. Apparently we didn't do a very good job."

The Dodgers, desperately trying to pull out of their worst slump in 12 years, watched as Cincinnati stormed back from a 2-0 deficit on a three-run homer by rookie Ken Griffey and eventually win on Ed Armbrister's first major league pinch hit, a two-run bloop single with the bases loaded.

It was the 10th loss in 11 games for the Dodgers, who less than two weeks ago held a four-game lead over the Reds.

"It's all momentum, isn't it?" said Pete Rose, the National League's leading hitter who went hitless in four trips.

"We won without Joe Morgan and I doing anything. That's got to help us tomorrow," said Rose.

It was the fourth straight win over Los Angeles since the Reds launched a withering streak of 49 victories in 68 games on July 1—a blistering percentage of .711 for 2½ months.

Heading the September surge which has seen the Reds win 10 of 12 games while Los Angeles was losing 10 of 11 has been the veteran-like play of Armbrister and Griffey.

It now turns out that the team to beat in the National League East is the Philadelphia Phillies.

Well, they may not win it...but they'll have a lot to say about who does.

The last-place Phillies, who have played the role of "spoiler" lately, did it again Tuesday night with a 6-4 victory over the New York Mets.

"There is no sense playing 162 games and finishing last," said Philadelphia's Greg Luzinski, who hit two home runs against the Mets. "We have a chance to get as high as second place and until we're out of it, first place is still available.

"The thing is to catch the people we're playing. They're ahead of us. You have to get them before you think of first."

The Phillies will have ample opportunity to help settle the thing. They've got six games left with front-running St. Louis, four with second-place Pittsburgh, four against fourth-place Chicago and two with the fifth-place Mets.

The race became even tighter, if that's possible, after what happened Tuesday.

The Montreal Expos beat St. Louis 4-1 and the Cubs beat the Pirates 2-0. The results left the Pirates a half-game behind the Cardinals while Montreal was 1½ games behind, Chicago 2½ and New York 3½.

In the other National League games, the Cincinnati Reds dropped the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3; the Atlanta Braves nipped the San Francisco Giants 6-5 in 11 innings and the Houston Astros bested the San Diego Padres 4-2 in 10.

The Phillies, who came back from a six-run deficit to beat Pittsburgh on Sunday, were losing 4-0 Tuesday night before rallying with the long ball.

Solons Speed Work On Bill On Blackouts

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Congress wants to act, it can move quicker than streaking Mercury Morris of the Miami Dolphins on a touchdown run.

Most observers believe the House of Representatives, getting plenty of downfield support, would beat Morris in a foot race at the pace it's moving on the legislation to lift the local TV blackouts on home games sold out 72 hours in advance.

The House communications subcommittee took only 15 minutes to approve the measure Monday, the full House Commerce Committee needed 20 minutes Tuesday to vote to let the floor and the bill apparently will be before the entire House Thursday.

The delay between Tuesday and Thursday came only because the report of the Commerce Committee must be printed and presented to the Rules Committee, the legislative traffic cop, before any action can be taken by the House.

The Rules Committee sets up the conditions under which the House considers a piece of legislation such as how long the debate will be and whether amendments can be forth-coming.

Normally, once a bill clears the Rules Committee, there is a 24-hour delay before it reaches the floor but that can be overcome by a two-thirds vote of those present on the floor.

beat the tortoise.

When Aesop wrote his piece about slow and steady winning the race, he didn't account for Nolan Ryan.

It was Ryan, the flamethrower, against Wilbur Wood, the tame thrower, in a classic struggle Tuesday night.

And in a morale booster for the overdog, Ryan the hare beat Wood the tortoise, giving the California Angels a 3-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Both the fireballing Ryan and the knuckleballing Wood are zeroing in on records as 1973 wraps up its season.

Ryan's 12 strikeouts Tuesday night raised his season total to 338, 44 shy of Sandy Koufax's major league mark and just 11 short of Rube Waddell's American League record of 349.

Wood is less interested in records than Ryan. With the defeat, forced on him by third baseman Brian Downing's three errors which led to all three unearned runs, Wood's record dropped to 23-19.

One more loss and the portly left-hander will be seeing 20-20, not a pleasant sight. The last pitcher to see a pair of ambivalent 20's was Walter Johnson, pitching for the old Washington Senators in 1925.

Orioles 8, Red Sox 3

The diagnosis isn't very good for the Red Sox.

"It's not impossible, but it's critical," said Sox Manager Eddie Kasko after his club dropped an 8-3 decision to Baltimore and then fell to 5 1-2 games behind the first place Orioles in the American League East.

Minnesota 6, Texas 3

Billy Martin is discovering what his predecessors, Ted Williams and Whitey Herzog, knew too well. The Texas Rangers know how to lose.

The Rangers, who had won their first two games under new manager Martin, returned to a more recognizable pattern by dropping their second straight, 6-3 to the Minnesota Twins.

Cleveland 7, New York 3

Yankee Stadium, the House That Ruth Built, was made small along the foul lines to accomodate the New York power.

But those dimensions work both ways. Cleveland beat the Yankees 3-2 in homers and 7-3 in the game.

Detroit 4, Milwaukee 2

Woodie Fryman pitched nine strong innings but all he had to show for it was a 2-2 tie. Then he turned spectator in the 10th and had a good time.

"I enjoyed it for a change," Fryman said after the Mickey Stanley's two-run homer made him a winner.

John Hiller pitched the 10th for the Tigers, recording his 34th save.

Oakland 3, Kansas City 1

Pat Borque's walk forced in the tie-breaking run and Gene Tenace's sacrifice fly brought home the other in a two-run sixth that carried the Oakland A's to a 3-1 victory over the Kansas City Royals.

The United States Ryder Cup team will travel to Muirfield, Scotland, for a showdown with the British team Sept. 20-22. Only native-born PGA members are eligible.

Association Names Young Outstanding Broadcaster

Collis Young, Circleville, is to be honored by the Ohio Association of Broadcasters at a luncheon Friday.

Young has been chosen to receive the "Broadcaster of the Year" award at the luncheon, which is part of the activities of the Broadcasters' fall convention Thursday and Friday at the Neil House in Columbus.

Young, who lives at 311 E. Main St. with his wife Bernice, has been a part of the broadcast industry for 25 years. He joined the Great Trails Broadcasting Corp. following World War II and worked up to the position of president and general manager of WCOR Radio in Columbus.

Counties Receive Property Tax Money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Six Ohio counties will receive a total of $1.17 million in property tax rollback reimbursements, the state Auditor's office said Tuesday.

They are Wayne, $468,817; Crawford, $221,558; Williams, $159,407; Putnam, $151,115; Wyandot, $95,539, and Paulding, $70,081.

He now serves as a consultant for the Great Trails Stations which includes stations in Dayton, Springfield, Louisville and Milwaukee as well as Columbus.

Also to be honored during the convention is TV and movie actor Joe Flynn, a native of Youngstown. He will receive the achievement award presented by the OAB to an Ohioan who rises to national prominence in the industry.

Flynn is perhaps best known for his role as Captain Binghamton in the television series "McHale's Navy."

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is an interesting day and evening. Changes just around the corner are coming into view and give you an indication of what you can do to quicken the activity. You will become aware of the additional information you need to succeed

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You now know what is expected of you by associates and can quietly state your own expectations so there is more cooperation in the future. Many situations break now so you know what to do about civic duties

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Being more cooperative with co-workers improves production and benefits. Make your surroundings more charming by using that artistic Venusian quality you have. Use more courtesy with mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Stepping out with good friends for the recreation you want is good now. First be sure to handle important obligations. Don't cause enmity between a close tie and another, or you are the loser. Don't stay out too late in p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Try a new approach with those at home so more harmonious relations result. Do some entertaining with a sincere heart so you please your guests. Dress in fine style.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Much contact with regular associates can bring new friends of value into your life, as well as new ideas that are worthwhile. Put a new idea into operation quickly with the aid of fellow workers. Try not to impose on another.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Handle those outstanding responsibilities quickly instead of procrastinating and haggling over them. A little self-sacrifice for mate can bring fine results now. Show you are a master at your craft.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't start an argument with an associate but try to make the future more pleasant by more cooperation and understanding. Keep silent when another is fretting and fuming. Keeping the peace is very important right now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You need to think and act constructively now if you are to solve those problems in the proper way. Forget the fun things and stick to whatever is important. Evening is best spent at home.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Getting into some new form of entertainment is good today since it could be delightful and interesting. A fine day for creativity and gaining the favor of bigwigs. Avoid one who does not appreciate you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have to see to it that all is handled efficiently yet tactfully at home. Know what kin expect of you. Showing a cooperative spirit starts the day off in the proper manner.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Ideal day for getting into those philosophical or other ideas that could lead you in the right direction for the future, since you have support of a higher-up. Show some interest in others' problems.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Cement better relations with one who has power over your monetary affairs and you get more support for the days ahead. Converse more with the one you love and reach a more harmonious relationship. Think constructively.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY...he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will want to serve others later in life, so be sure to teach to complete whatever has once been started and to wait until asked before trying to help anyone, or your child could use energies in wrong directions, aiding the unworthy, and lessen both the success and usefulness possible here. Teach early to act more quickly also, after sufficient thought. Give a good grounding in psychology

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — "Chase" is a new cops 'n' robbers series out of the Jack Webb works. The Jack Webb works should retell this model and give it better lines before sending it out again to uphold the law.

This one-hour show, which bowed Tuesday night on NBC-TV, is sort of a salt-free "Mod Squad" about yet another hip undercover police unit. You can tell it's hip because the boys in blue wear chambray work shirts. They're Now people who pack .357 Magnums.

Still, "Chase" may catch on if there's a great deal of improvement in the acting and writing departments. It has action a-plenty, including some wild helicopter flying that will be an integral part of the series.

Tuesday's opening show involved an attempt by the five-man "Chase" unit to bust a rolling gambling casino set up in a tractor-trailer rig whose sides are cleverly marked "A-1 Produce Co."

Alas, there is a cheap hood inside who makes off with the lettuce even as the "Chase" unit starts moving in. He ships out a .45-caliber automatic and seeks donations from the patrons. They donate.

"You won't believe this, but we've got an honest-to-goodness stickup going on," Sgt. Sam MacRay (Wayne Maunder), posing as a patron, whispers into his cufflink radio. Yes, a cufflink radio.

We halt here for details on the rest of the "Chase" crew. One, a Chinese-American (Brian Fong), is in mufti on a motorcycle. Another officer (Michael Richardson) drives a hotrod.

The last two, Capt. Chase Reddick (Mitchell Ryan) and officer Norm Hamilton (Reid Smith) are watching over all in a helicopter. They should have spent the time watching over the script. But on with the show.

The rolling casino halts on a deserted road and the baddie roars off in what turns out to be a stolen auto. Fong arrests the casino operators and his colleagues nab the baddie after a wild chase that ends without casualties, thanks to "Fuzz," their police dog. Yes, "Fuzz."

As the plot unravels, it develops that the gunsels' car was acquired from a Los Angeles based car theft ring. The ring specializes in liberating luxury cars, then shipping them from Los Angeles and New Orleans to overseas points, complete with new papers and paint jobs.

"Chase" gets assigned to the case and cracks it, thanks to one team member who infiltrates the ring as a driver.

The cracking involves a constant tailing of suspicious characters who park their hot cars in a Los Angeles garage. Each time they drive out of the garage, they're followed closely by an unmarked police car and the undercover motorcyclist.

A sign that says, "Here I am, Daddy," would have been less noticeable, but you have to remember this is television. Even allowing for that, "Chase" needs a lot of work if it is to succeed.

Five People Injured In Tuesday Mishap

Five people were injured in a two vehicle accident yesterday afternoon at 2:15 on Route 23, south of the Certified station.

Both vehicles were northbound when the first vehicle, a tractor driven by Stephen R. Obert, 22, Columbus, was struck from the side by a car driven by Thurman R. Ward, 28, Portsmouth.

2,050 Attend GE Picnic

Approximately 2050 General Electric employees and guests attended the 25th Annual Circleville Lamp Plant Picnic held at Zoo Park in Columbus, according to E. G. Grigg, Plant Manager.

Activities of the day included free rides for everyone on the park's major amusement rides, free soft drinks, candy and coffee, and drawings for door prizes. Bingo was played and enjoyed by several hundred of the employees and guests from 1 to 4 p.m. in the ballroom.

At 4, the picnic was climaxed by the drawings for GE small appliances. Grand prizes were the winner's choice of one of four GE products, including a clothes dryer, mobile dishwasher, portable TV, or room air conditioner. The grand prizes were won by Sharon Edler and Ken E. Dille.

Murdock Enters Race For Governor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A state lawmaker from Cincinnati scheduled a news conference today to announce his candidacy for the 1974 Republican nomination for governor.

Rep. Norman A. Murdock, R-21 Cincinnati, is the first to challenge former two-term Gov. James A. Rhodes, who announced several months ago as a candidate.

Murdock is being boosted for the nomination by a Cincinnati Republican faction which claims Ohio Republicans need new faces to accommodate the post Watergate mood of the voters.

Rep. Chester T. Cruze, R-22 Cincinnati, and Frank H. Mayfield Jr., R-65 Cincinnati, held an advance news conference Tuesday to announce they had picked up Murdock's petitions from the secretary of state.

Neither mentioned Rhodes by name, but they stressed that the GOP needs a "Mr. Clean" type of candidate in the wake of "scandals in both parties on both the national and state levels." The implication was clear they feared Rhodes may be vulnerable.

Obviously referring to published stories questioning the manner in which Rhodes handled the parole of a former mobster when Rhodes was governor, Cruze said, "I don't have any more knowledge as to the truth of those stories than anyone else."

Cite Driver For ACDA

Robert E. Byers, 22, Route 1, Stoutsville, was cited for assured clear distance ahead when he was involved in a two-car accident 5:29 p.m. Tuesday on the Circleville-Tarlton Road.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputies T. Peter Marshall and J. Phillip Brown, Byers ran into the rear car driven by Helen L. Spradlin, 48, 1120 S. Court Street.

Driving east on the Circleville-Tarlton Road, Mrs. Spradlin crested a hill and was preceding to make a left turn.

Byers, also driving east on Circleville-Tarlton, crested the hill, but failed to stop before running into the Spradlin auto.

Byers received injuries to shoulder, neck and back. Mrs. Spradlin complained of shoulder and back injury.

Brooks-Yates Sets Free Meal Policy

Pickaway County Mental Retardation Board announced today a free and reduced price meal policy for Brooks-Yates students who are unable to pay the full price.

Eligibility is determined by a family size, income scale. For a family of four the income scale is $5,310 for free meals and $6,380 for reduced price.

Free meals will be given to a family of five if their income is less than $6,100 and $7,320 for reduced price. For a family of six the scale is $6,890 for free meals and $8,260 for reduced price.

Families not meeting the criteria set for free or reduced meals may still qualify. Unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child and disaster or casualty losses may also apply.

The application form will be sent home to the parents and additional copies are available at the principal's office. An application may be submitted any time during the year and all information will be confidential.

In certain cases, foster children are eligible for these benefits. If parents have such children living with them and want to apply, they should contact the school.

In this program, no child will be discriminated against because of his race, sex, color, or national origin.

Any questions concerning the policy can be answered by contacting Mrs. Judy Goode, Route 1, or by going to the office at Brooks-Yates School where a complete copy of the policy is on file.

Columbus Firm Medical Tests Are Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Doctors have recommended that 100 employees in the print shop of the Columbus Coated Fabrics plant take special tests before being allowed to return to work, a union leader said Tuesday.

Corwin Smith, president of Local 487 of the Textile Workers of America, said the nerve ailment, which struck employees at the plant last week has been confirmed in 12 workers.

The ailment is called "peripheral neuritis" and affects nerves in the arms, legs and fingers. The 100 workers in the plant's print shop have refused to work since the illness was discovered.

Doctors have recommended that the workers be required to take electro-miogram tests before returning to work in the print shop. The electro-miogram tests determine whether a person has nerve damage, Smith said.

Cadillac '74
More than ever...
America's Number One Luxury Car.

It is a matter of record that in the model year just ending more people chose to own Cadillacs than ever before in history—more than double those of the nearest competitor. And it is true that Cadillac traditionally leads all U.S. car makes in both resale value and owner loyalty. It's a record without equal. Yet in many ways the Cadillacs of 1974 are superior to the cars that established this record.

It's what you expect of Cadillac...and something more.

More choice. And what a choice it is—the greatest in the luxury field. There are the three you see here. The classic Fleetwood Brougham. The magnificent new version of America's only luxury convertible—Eldorado. The newly styled Coupe deVille. Plus six other basic models. Plus...

New Special Edition Cars. Luxury versions of DeVille. A new Brougham d'Elegance. And the new ultra-elegant Fleetwood Talisman.

More elegance. Inside every 1974 Cadillac is a new instrument panel. Interiors are more luxurious than ever.

More flair. The smart new styling of the Coupe deVille is a case in point. Its new lines, highlighted by the private quarter window, accent its youthful flavor.

More driving pleasure. Finer engine performance...from start to stop. Due in part to a new combustion chamber, a new camshaft, a choke reindexer to provide quick starting, a snorkel to supply the engine with cooler air. And something less. Even less engine noise with high-damping engine mounts, a fan clutch and a muffler for air intake. Inside the car, a virtual network of acoustical materials—including double seals on doors—silently does its job. After all, it's a Cadillac.
